SHIPPED AT LAST.

Locomotive Gets Off for South Africa at Last. A small sized locomotive manufactured by the Dickson Manufacturing company was started last night for South Africa where it will be used by Adolph Goetz & Co., a branch of the great Rand mining company.

When the plant of the Dickson company passed into the hands of the American Locomotive company, this locomotive went into the possession of the latter company also. When the Boer war ended a few weeks ago the American company was ordered to ship the locomotive.

It had been paid for the price being $2,000 but it was discovered that Koppie owes the Dickson company $4,000 on an old account and when it was learned that the locomotive was to be shipped the Dickson people attached it. It has been lying on a flat car for some days but yesterday an indemnifying bond to the amount of $2,400 was filed and the locomotive permitted to be shipped.

MENTION OF MEN OF HOUR

THE GREAT ACHIEVEMENT OF EUGENE H. FELLOWS.

Enjoys the Distinction of Having Done the Four-Year Course at Cornell in Three Years—He is the Son of Secretary E. D. Fellows, of School Board—Good Impression That Coroner J. F. Saltry is Making—Select Councilman John P. Quinnan.

One of the members of the graduating class at Cornell university yesterday was Eugene H. Fellows, of this city, son of Eugene D. Fellows, secretary of the school board. He enjoys the distinction of being one of the few who was able to complete the full four years' course in three years and receive the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Mr. Fellows graduated from the Scranton High school in 1895 and was then the youngest member of his class. He then entered the School of the Lackawanna and began a course of study preparatory to entering college.

At the breaking out of the Spanish-American war he was only 18 years old, but at once volunteered and served with the Thirtieth regiment until March, 1899. He was acting first sergeant of his company.

The day after his return to this city he re-entered the School of the Lackawanna and received his diploma on the following June. The next fall he entered Cornell university as a freshman.

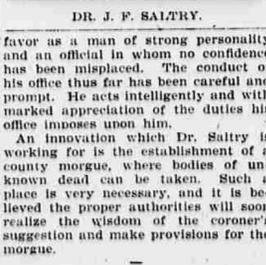

During his sophomore year he made a careful calculation of the requirements for graduation and decided that it was just possible for him to graduate in three years.

By dint of steady application and the hardest of hard work he succeeded in passing from his sophomore to his senior year and graduated yesterday, just one year in advance of his class. He made also a very creditable record in athletics. He made the freshman football team when he entered and during his second year he was captain of both the sophomore and "scrub," or second university, teams.

Mr. Fellows' university record is one that is rarely made and he will no doubt receive the hearty congratulations of his large circle of friends when he returns to this city.

Some time ago Mr. Fellows took a competitive examination for entrance to West Point and came out second in the list. He was appointed alternate and went to West Point, where he successfully passed the entrance examinations. The regular candidate was appointed, however.

The good impression made by Dr. J. F. Saltry in his canvass for the office of county coroner has been carried into the actual duties of the work, and he has already stamped himself in public favor as a man of strong personality and an official in whom no confidence has been misplaced. The conduct of his office thus far has been careful and prompt. He acts intelligently and with marked appreciation of the duties his office imposes upon him.

An innovation which Dr. Saltry is working for is the establishment of a county morgue, where bodies of unknown dead can be taken. Such a place is very necessary, and it is believed the proper authorities will soon realize the wisdom of the coroner's suggestion and make provisions for the morgue.

"I think this practice is altogether wrong, Mr. Speaker—I should say, Mr. Chairman." That's the way Select Councilman John P. Quinnan, of the Twelfth ward, betrayed his legislative training at a recent meeting of the select branch. But that was only a matter of trivial detail. In numerous other ways Mr. Quinnan is demonstrating his ability as a careful and conscientious lawmaker, and is showing that his service in the legislature at Harrisburg was a valuable training.

Mr. Quinnan is the first lawyer to become a member of select council since Colonel George Sanderson left it some two years ago. It's the general opinion of the other members that it's a mighty good thing to have a lawyer associated with them, in order that some of the questions which arise may be authoritatively settled without delaying for an opinion from the city solicitor. Mr. Quinnan seems to be well posted on some phases of municipal law, and the other members quoted offhand at some length from a Supreme court decision defining "emergency," while arguing against the passage of emergency appropriations in general.

ANNUAL VOCAL RECITAL.

Pupils of J. T. Watkins Entertained Last Night.

The pupils of John T. Watkins in vocal recital, at College hall last evening, were greeted by an immense audience that filled the hall to its capacity, and made the walls resound with applause. The pupils clearly demonstrated the excellent method, training, style and intense expression of their teacher upon whom was showered lavish commendation for the excellent programme so pleasingly and charmingly arranged.

Miss Lillian Matthews, of pleasing presence, sang "Spring Time." Miss Somnar, the possessor of a high lyric soprano voice, gave her number in good style and with sweet expression. Joseph Wynkoop rendered in pretty voice and style "Marguerite" and "The Moon's Lullaby." A rich contralto voice is that of Miss Ruth Beddoe, who gave her solo, "Fond Heart Farewell" in fine voice and with deep feeling.

She was followed by Ben Eynon, whose youthful voice made a good impression in the song "Hearings Are in the Bay." One of the features was the rendition of scenes from the "Mikado," in costumes. The characters were: Yum-Yum, Peep-Boo, Pitti-Sing, Pooh-Bah, and Pish-Tush, taken by Miss Harriet Jackson, Miss Gertrude Morris, Miss Mildred Smith, J. E. Watkins and Richard E. Watkins, respectively.

The three little maids sang and acted with much cleverness, and the male parts were effectively taken. The singing of the ladies' chorus was excellent. A voice of good timbre and wide range is possessed by Miss Grace Duncan Sprague, who sang "A Song of Thanks-Giving" by Allisen. Piusini's "Queen of the Earth" was sung by Daniel Battle, of Carbondale. Miss Irene Kann's finely cultured soprano voice was heard in two beautiful selections and Mrs. Rhoda Shield sang, "Beloved, It Is Morn" and "Damon." Miss Mildred Smith, a pretty girl only 16 years old, sang a sweet voice, sang two dainty little numbers and Miss Margaret Evans sang "Live Without Eurydice." The closing number was the stirring "Soldiers' Chorus" from "Faust," with its martial ring. It was splendidly rendered by the special recital chorus, assisted by the Catholic Choral union, making a combined total of 130 voices.

Mr. Watkins' more advanced pupils will be heard in the second and closing recital to be given next Thursday night. The accompanists last night were: Miss Florence H. Richmond, Miss Nellie Mack, Miss Elizabeth Neary, Miss Rose Conway and Mrs. B. G. Beddoe.

CHARLES HORN DEAD.

Body Was Brought to This City Yesterday Afternoon.

Charles E. Horn, son of Attorney George S. Horn, of this city, died early yesterday morning at Syracuse, N. Y. His father was at his bedside at the time, and accompanied the remains home to this city yesterday. They arrived over the Lackawanna railroad at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The high regard in which Mr. Horn is held by the members of his profession here was demonstrated by the large throng of lawyers who met him at the station and offered their condolences. There were nearly fifty in the party, which included many of the leading attorneys of the city, and they marched in a body on the sidewalk alongside the hearse, which bore the body of the dead young man to the family home at the corner of Mulberry street and Monroe avenue.

Mr. Horn was exhausted by his long vigil at the bedside of his son. The funeral will take place from the home Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

EFFECT OF CALL ON SOFT COAL

BIG SALES AT FANCY FIGURES WILL RESULT.

Local Coal Men Express the Opinion That the Soft Coal Operators Will Not Sincerely Discourage Their Men from Joining in the Strike. Executive Board Member Declares Soft Coal Miners Are at Liberty to Disregard Their Contracts—Disorder Almost Wholly Wanting.

"If the threatened general strike of the coal miners should not come to pass," said a local coal man, yesterday, "the bituminous operators will be able to secure a pretty good dividend this quarter. Everybody will want coal and will be willing almost to take any amount of it at any price. The soft coal miners, it is likely, will not be averse to making all the wages they can as a forerunning for the possible strike, and taking advantage of this the operators will work their mines to their fullest capacity. Six weeks of such conditions would enable the soft coal men to have their mines idle three months without loss. To my mind, the soft coal operators will not be unwilling to have the strike occur, for it will rid them of their contracts with the miners' union without subjecting them to any appreciable financial loss, if indeed any loss at all. If the soft coal operators are found discouraging the agitation for a general strike, I will be greatly surprised."

Anthony Schlosser, a member of the executive board of the United Mine Workers, declared yesterday that the anthracite men are assured that the soft coal miners will join in the strike. The fact that they have a yearly contract with the soft coal operators will not deter them from striking, Mr. Schlosser says. The contract, he says, contains a provision to the effect that the soft coal operators shall not ship any coal into the anthracite market in case of a strike in the anthracite regions. This provision has been violated and the miners are at liberty to consider the contract violated.

The fact that there are strikes in the West Virginia and Kentucky districts and dissatisfaction in other places in the anthracite region prompts the belief that enough soft coal votes can be secured by the anthracite men to give a majority in favor of a general strike. The locals in the anthracite region will meet to elect and instruct delegates immediately upon the receipt of the official call from National Secretary W. B. Wilson. District Secretary John T. Dempsey said, yesterday, these calls will likely be received here in the course of a few days.

No disorder was reported from any part of the county yesterday. Even the practice of calling names at the men going out and from the collieries is dying out, and the hanging of offices has been discontinued.

John Sigaski, a striker from South Scranton, was before Magistrate Millar, yesterday, charged with throwing stones at a gang of Delaware, Lackawanna and Western men who were returning from work at the Bellevue washery, Tuesday evening. He was positively identified by the workmen as one of the two men who led in the assault. The magistrate fined him $20 and added $5 for costs, and required him to give bail in the sum of $500 to keep the peace. He was released upon meeting this requirement. Twenty carpenters employed at the Northwest colliery of the Temple Iron company quit work, yesterday, as a result of incessant persuasion on the part of strikers' committees. They were engaged in repair work.
